Forecast For London & Southeast England
Issued by Met Office Exeter
at 1600 on Tuesday 20 Apr 2021

++ Valid for broadcast between 1800 and 0600

Headline:
Chilly overnight, cloudier and cooler on Wednesday.

This Evening and Tonight:
Any isolated showers will fade away during the evening, to leave a dry and locally chilly night with clear spells. Some frost is possible in prone rural spots. Low cloud may develop in eastern areas, mainly near the coast. Minimum temperature 0 deg C (32 deg F).

Wednesday:
Cloudier and cooler in northern and eastern areas. Fine to the southwest, but cloud moving over all areas, perhaps giving patchy rain. Gradually becoming drier and brighter later, with sunshine. Maximum temperature 16 deg C (61 deg F).

Outlook for Thursday to Saturday:
Dry with variable cloud cover and light winds throughout. Cold overnight with frosts, although it willl feel warm in sunny spells by day. Some brief early fog patches are possible.

(C) Crown Copyright 2021. Published by the Met Office.